WATCHED Dillon's training yesterday afternoon at Washington Park. Dillon explained in his sessing room that he was letting up littis, being quite fit and ready for fight, as he didn't care to risk as of a construction suited to the resisting of heavy blows. He meant that there was reserve mental power, letting determination, dominating force in the well rounded chin, the square check hones, heavy black brows, and plenty of light. Dilion's dressing room was a large, airy inclosure, with many windows, and pienty of light. It had been planned to accommodate a team of ball-gplayers and their handlers. All around the place were strewn sweaters and bits of training paraphernalia. Sam Marburger, Dilion's manager, stayed around in Jack's vicinity, "Jack likes to have me near when he's getting ready for a fight," said he. And I don't wonder at it. For some time complaint has been made by the Giants that they fall off in heir hiting at the Polo Grounds on account of the many lights and shadows and the confusing background of the centre field bleachers. To obviate that trouble as much as possible the big green screen has been put in place and it will be interesting to watch the result. "The National League race may be a matter between four clubs," said Duke Farreil, the old catcher, last night, "but in my opinion there are five clubs that have a chance in the American. I don't think that the Browns are out of it by any means. The way it looks to me the Red Sox, the Clevelands, the Senators, the Yanks and the Browns all have a chance. And of those the Yanks look the best to me because they have played more consistently than any other club in the league with the exception of Cleveland. We're only a half game behind the Indians now."

By Vincent Treanor. caretaker of two-year-old racers.
During the three days of the Aqueduct meeting up to yesterday he has saddled the winners of three of the juvenile events, and at Jamalca he won twice with Genesis and got two thirds with Jitney. The Cochrane stable started the season auspiclously enough at Belmont Park, but the coughing epidemic which prevailed there and the bucked shins, which two-year-olds usually suffer from, set back the string in a most discouraging way. Now, however, Midgely seems to have the youngsters in fine fettle again and they are all showing steady improvement. Genesis just breezed home in yesterday's Canarsie Selling Stakes, stepping in front most of the way with the fast but faint hearted Felicidad. She showed a much better performance than in her race at Jamalca last Thursday when she just staggared home in front of Straightforward. That race was at five and a half furlongs and yesterday's was only five, but at that she acted as if she might have gone the extra half yesterday and won in the same easy manner.

Burlesque won the second victory of the day for Midgely in the final event, showing like a real race filly. She had a stretch battle with the

that the Yanks have an excellent chance for a pennant. And it is natural that "Griff" should think that way. He has prophesied that the Senators would win. There-fore, if the Yanks can trim the Senators it ought to be a cinch.

But that doesn't help the feelings of Ray Caldwell, who was greeted with a home run smash on the first ball he pitched in the final game at
